Historical Note:

The International Union of Electrical Workers District Council No. 7 (I.U.E. District 7) is headquartered at 3461 Office Park Drive, Dayton, Ohio 45419. The U.E.'s first founding convention was held on March 21-22, 1936. At this time, James B. Carey was unanimously elected President of the U.E. and Julius Emspack, Secretary-Treasurer. At the National C.I.O. Convention, November 1949, the U.E. was expelled from the C.I.O. for being "Communist-dominated." At this same meeting a successor union with the same jurisdiction was chartered - the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (I.U.E.) James B. Carey, C.I.O. secretary and U.E. president voted out of office in 1941, was installed by Murray as head man of the I.U.E.

I.U.E. District Council 7 is one of 11 districts within the I.U.E. It has jurisdiction over 106 local unions-in a seven state area - Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi, Ohio, Tennessee, and West Virginia.
