Historical Note:

The B-W Greenway Community Land Trust (B-WGC) was established in 1998. The “B” stands for the Beaver Creek Wetlands and the “W” for the Estel Wenrick Wetlands. The primary goal of this organization is to maintain wetlands, a greenway, and land management. The B-WGC lies in the towns of Beaver Creek and Fairborn, the townships of Bath, Beaver Creek and Mad River, and the counties of Clark and Greene.

Scope and Content:

Series I, Administrative, consists of Board of Trustee’s Minutes, Strategic Plan, and resolutions and by-laws. Also included are Annual Reports and Grant Information.

Series II, Land, contains inspection reports on property easements currently maintained by the B-WGC. Of particular interest is the process of acquiring the Adrian Property.

Series III, Programs, includes programs from the Sweet Corn Festival held in Fairborn, Ohio. Also there are programs and workshops that B-WGC either participated in or organized themselves.

Series IV, Publications, contains the B-WGC’s newsletter, “The Green Heart.” Also included are newspaper clippings about the organization as well as booklets about B-WGC and editions of the “Local Food Sources Directory.”

Series V, Artwork, consists of original artwork done by Joseph Barrish. The artwork consists of water colored portraits of various flowers that are in the B-WGC’s wetlands area. The letters and numbers next to the flower name indicate which volume and issue number of “The Green Heart” the artwork is featured in. The copyright for the artwork is held by the artist.
