

MS-497, St. Elizabeth Hospital Records

Collection Number: MS-497

Title: St. Elizabeth Hospital Records

Dates: 1878-2000 (bulk 1940-2000)

Creator: St. Elizabeth Hospital

Summary/Abstract:

The St. Elizabeth Hospital Records document the growth and expansion of the Franciscan Health Network in Dayton. The hospital was established in 1878 and founded as Dayton's first community hospital by the Franciscan Sisters of the Poor. Expansion and construction began in 1882 and continued throughout the hospital's existence. The collection includes photographs and negatives documenting this development overtime. The Nursing School was established at St. Elizabeth Hospital in 1929 and closed permanently in 1974. Class photographs of nursing school students are included in the main collection. St. Elizabeth Hospital became St. Elizabeth Medical Center in 1969, creating new publications and departments. Nineteen handwritten ledgers were used from 1878 through 1940 to document the admission, diagnosis, and discharge of patients. The collection also includes news articles, minutes for various meetings, financial reports, and additional photographs and negatives covering the period from 1878 to 2000. The hospital officially closed in 1999 and is now the Medical Center at Elizabeth Place. The collection does not include medical records.

Historical Note:

St. Elizabeth hospital was opened on August 15, 1878 by Franciscan nuns and Father John F. Hahne of Emmanuel Church, Dayton's oldest Catholic Church. Sisters Emile and Columbia came to Dayton on July 2, 1878 from the mother house in Aachen, Germany to open the hospital. The first location, named for St. Elizabeth of Hungary, was a two-story brick house across Franklin Street from Emmanuel Church and opened with 12 beds. Dr. J. C. Reeve was the hospital's first Chief of Staff, serving from 1878 to 1908. The hospital was considered Dayton's first community hospital. In 1882, St. Elizabeth's relocated to a house on four acres on Hopeland Street for $14,000. Land was acquired around the hospital by the sisters to support livestock and an orchard as part of the food supply in 1884. The house held 100 beds and cost $130,000 total after construction. Expansion continued to accommodate the growing need for more facilities, including the Department of Pathology in 1891 and the Saint Ann Maternity ward in 1916. St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing was opened in 1929 on the East side of Hopeland Street. The school expanded in 1945 with the addition of Schervier Hall and again in 1946 with the St. Elizabeth School of Medical Technology and School of X-ray Technology. Groundbreaking for new buildings began in 1951 across Hopeland Street and construction was completed one year before the hospital's centennial in 1977. Prior to the centennial, the hospital officially changed its name to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center in 1969. The nursing school closed permanently in 1974 and Shervier Hall was renovated. The hospital closed in 1999 and its building is now the Medical Center at Elizabeth Place, housing rental offices for individual medical practice and clinics.

Scope and Content

The St. Elizabeth Hospital Collection documents the growth and day to day operations of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center and their Nursing School. This collection is arranged into five series, with two of those series each having three subseries. The largest of these series is the series of photographs, which document the growth and expansion of the physical hospital building as well as the staff housed within. Of particular note is the subseries of class photos produced by the attached Nursing School, documenting the graduating nurses from 1918 through 1974. The collection does not include medical records. All St. Elizabeth Hospital medical records were permanently destroyed by hospital personnel after 10 years, in accordance with the legal requirements and the hospital's records retention policy.

Series I, Administration, consists of personnel and Chief of Staff files containing Thomas Beckett's hiring information, correspondence, publications, and resignation documents. Meeting and committee minutes, the hospital's policy manual, the 1959 Elizabethan Nursing School yearbook, intern training materials, and official correspondence is also included.

Series II, Ledgers, consists of 19 ledgers containing notes and patient information, such as admission date, diagnosis, physician seen, and discharge date.

Series III, Publications, consists of internal and external publications of SEMC staff members. It is divided into 3 subseries. Subseries IIIA, General Publications, contains published articles by hospital staff, as well as news articles about the hospital. Subseries IIIB, Annual reports, contains the financial reports that were made available to the community. Subseries IIIC, Newsletters, contains the multiple newsletters produced by the hospital, including the Elizabethan Network, an employee publication (1962-1970) printed in house, the Elizabethan Newsletter (1970-1978) produced both in and out of the facility, and the Franciscan Focus/News (1990-1991).

Series IV, Special Events, consists primarily of documents pertaining to the Centennial Celebration in 1978, as well as various other events organized by the hospital.

Series V, Visual Material, contains various photographs and negatives produced throughout the lifetime of the hospital providing visual representation of the hospital's growth and operations. It is divided into 3 subseries. Subseries VA, Photographs, contains the photographs produced by the hospital. The photographs are grouped according to subject matter, i.e. staff photos, departmental photos, and building expansion. Subseries VB, Negatives, contains negatives of photographs including employee gatherings, building construction, medical operations, and staff photos. Subseries VC, Nursing School, contains the annual class photos of graduating students from the attached nursing school, officially established in 1929 and closed in 1974.
